S i r:

With reference to your letter of the 15th instant, replying to one from Mr. Langley dated June 14, I beg leave to say that, in connection with his trip abroad, Mr. Stewart Culin, of the University of Pennsylvania, will be expressly charged with certain duties on behalf of the U. S. National Museum. I have the honor, therefore, to request that he be granted a special passport, for which the fee of one dollar is enclosed herewith.

Very respectfully yours,

June 14, 1898.

Sir:

Mr. Stewart Culin, Director of the Department of Archaeology and Paleontology in the University of Pennsylvania, and for many years a collaborator in the work of the United States National Museum, proposes to spend a part of this summer in Europe, where he will act as a special collector on behalf of the National Museum. Mr. Culin is the author of several important ethnological papers which have been published by the Smithsonian Institution, and he has also made many valuable contributions to the National Collections.

It is considered that his opportunities for obtaining specimens and information would be materially increased if he were provided with a special passport such as has sometimes been issued by the State Department in similar cases, and I beg therefore to inquire if the Department would be willing, in view of Mr. Culin's relations with this Institution, to grant him such a passport.

Very respectfully yours,

J. P. Langley
Secretary.
